NOTE: When a question asks for an answer IN YOUR OWN WORDS AS FAR AS POSSIBLE and you select the appropriate material from the passage for your answer, you must still use your own words to express it. Little credit can be given to answers which only copy words and phrases from the passage.

1. Why would people who fetishise leadership 'find themselves longing for crisis' (line 1)?

[2]

2. Why has the author placed brackets around the comment in lines 8–9?

[1]

3. In paragraph 2, the author states 'our faith in the value of leadership is durable' (line 11). Give the example that the author provides to support this and explain what it indicates about leadership. Use your own words as far as possible. [3]

[3]

4. Using your own words as far as possible, explain what the author suggests is lacking in the past idea of leadership in lines 25–28.

[1]

5. In paragraph 4, the author claims that 'for a long time, leadership experts remained nostalgic for old-type leaders'. How does the remainder of the paragraph illustrate his assertion? Use your own words as far as possible.

6. Using material from paragraphs 5–7 only (lines 39–66), summarise what the author has to say about the changes to leadership brought about by the process model.

Write your summary in no more than 120 words, not counting the opening words which are printed below. Use your own words as far as possible.

The author feels that leadership...

[illegible]

7. Explain what the author means by describing leadership as 'a form of captivity' (line 67). Use your own words as far as possible.

[2]

8. In lines 73–76, what similarities does the author see between leaders and characters in stories? Use your own words as far as possible.

[3]

9. Using your own words as far as possible, explain the analogy which the author uses in lines 86–87.

[2]

10. In light of the final paragraph, why does the author describe 'a sense of perspective' (line 87) as something 'we ask our leaders to hide' (lines 88–89)? Use your own words as far as possible.
